Cookies Policy

This statement highlights how our website uses cookies.

Our website uses cookies

For most modern websites to work correctly, they need to store specific basic information about its users. To do this, as site will create files known as cookies.

Cookies are tiny text files that are collected and stored by the browser (e.g. Internet Explorer, Chrome, etc.) on your computer or mobile device. We use the following types of cookies:

- Anonymous Analytics Cookies

We use Google Analytics to gather information about how visitors use our site, including which pages are most popular, how frequently users visit, and how long they spend on the website. This enables UCA to monitor website's performance and importantly, these cookies cannot be used to identify individuals. As a result, we are able to better understand our users' preferences, how individuals navigate our website, and whether or not an individual has visited the site before.

- Third-Party Cookies

There are specific areas of the website that contain third-party cookies, e.g. blogs, videos and image content. When an individual shares any of the aforementioned content, and uses a social media sharing button, the specific social network (e.g. Instagram or LinkedIn) will record this. Urban Canvas Architecture is not responsible for third-party cookies.

Disabling Cookies

If your web browser is set to use standard settings and it is accepting cookies, you are granting consent for our website cookies to be stored on your computer. However, if you'd rather this not happen, you can disable them in your browser settings.
